THOUGHT FOR TODAY

This month I want to break down some things Jesus said that most Christians misunderstand. The key to understanding is revelation; allowing the Word to not just be something you absorb intellectually, but you receive from the heart. Now along with revelation it is important to have a well-rounded exposure to the Word, both Old and New Testaments, in order to "rightly divide" what you read and hear. Please understand that if the Word can be "rightly divided" it can also be wrongly divided. As New Testament believers, our main focus should be in the New Testament. The Old Testament provides a picture of the Father and the Israelites who would be the people chosen to bring about the restoration of mankind through the Lord Jesus, His Son. Since this was a four thousand year process it was plenty technical because the Father was going to do it in such a way that He could legally give mankind an opportunity to be restored. The Father did things right because He is right. This understanding should provide a solid foundation for our faith so as we approach His Word, we know that it only works the way it was intended, not the way we want it to. The Father is the same yesterday, today and forever. He does not and will not change. He is only right and light and there is no darkness in Him. He can be trusted. Make a determination to know the Word, so you can have what the Word has provided, exactly as Jesus paid for it!

The Father's plan was right, so all Jesus provided you now have a right to!

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I realize many of you, even those reading the PFS, have never really involved yourselves in serious study of God's Word. I'm not being critical, I'm just stating a well known fact. Most believers don't even read the bible, consequently they are easy prey to living a Christian life far below what's available. What I believe the Spirit of God wants to do with us this month is lock in on the character and nature of the Father as we see revealed in the life and teachings of Jesus. There are so many things in the Word of God that have been wrongly divided and taught that even people who don't know much still believe incorrectly because of what they've heard! In the Old Testament all the people the Father dealt with were dead spiritually. The transgression of Adam and Eve thrust mankind into spiritual darkness that could only be reversed by a perfect sacrifice. Therefore, God gave the "walking dead" in the Old Testament a natural way to stay connected to Him through obedience to the Law while preparing mankind for the PERFECT, which would be the Lord Jesus becoming our access to the Father, not our works or performance.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

How a son sees his dad is huge! Jesus made it clear to His followers how He saw the Father which should become a picture for us of how GOD REALLY IS! Because our goal is to rightly divide the Word in such a way that we have revelation and understanding that is 100% accurate, we must acknowledge what many religious men and women haven't; there are no more important words spoken or actions done in the entire Word of God than those spoken or done by Jesus. Now listen, this does not diminish the credibility of all the others who we read about and see in action, but what it does do is keep the FOCUS ON JESUS, THE ONE IN WHOM THE FATHER WAS WELL PLEASED. There were many men and women of God who brought Holy Spirit revelation to us, the apostle Paul being one of them, but there was only one called the "King of Kings". How weighty are His words to you? When they begin to define all you say and do, all He did and said will become the victory for the life you live.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The entire Word of God is full of profitable information and potential revelation, but none of it as important as what the Lord Jesus spoke and did. I'm not apologizing for that, I just want to make sure you understand where our faith should be focused. After all, if it's His faith we live by, then wouldn't it stand to reason that it would be His words that should carry the most weight in our lives? The Spirit of God just said to me, "If My people receive revelation of Jesus' words and deeds and then integrate them into their lifestyles, they will have the abundant life I authored and My Son provided!" I receive that as something to believe for, how about you? If a Christian is going to optimize their Christianity, why wouldn't they want to know Jesus? How did Jesus overcome temptation? How did Jesus address the lies of the enemy that bombarded His mind? The same way we can; "IT IS WRITTEN". When you know the Word, then speak the Word, the enemy has to flee!

Proverbs 5

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I really don't think I can be too adamant about the Word being really easy to know and live, for those who choose to do so. The Father does things in order and that really only becomes complicated when we choose to live from the mental or emotional arena. Changed your mind lately? Experienced any roller coaster-type emotions lately? That's the source of complications in our lives, not in following the teachings of the Word of God; they are simple. Creation attests to the order and attention to detail of the Father which should provide the security you need to faithfully be a doer of the Word, knowing the results are guaranteed. Ever experienced a morning without a sunrise? No! Why? The Father is faithful and consistent. Just like Jesus had a race to run with a purpose to accomplish in the cross, we have a race of faith before us and the Word we choose to believe, receive, and speak will sustain us until we finish! Most Christians however, are not in very good shape as it pertains to their race running skills. The Word gives us access to all the guidance we need, but again, it must be known, done, and put together correctly and personally for your race. Even though we are in the same world we each have our own race to run. The first thing you have to know as a necessity is how the race is run so it can be easily won. You are in competition with no one. You are contending with yourself and any space you would give to the enemy. He cannot move into your lane so to speak, unless you give him entrance or allow him to stay when he comes. Don't be concerned about others; they can't keep you from winning your race; they have their own to run.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

Jesus prepared for His race by constantly face-timing the Father.

Proverbs 6

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We want to get back to your race in a minute, but first, I want to mention how important it is for you to believe correctly. Remember Jesus said there are those who've allowed their "light to be darkness". Now if we didn't have the Holy Spirit as our teacher and guide we would all be in that group, but because we do, we should never not know what's "light" or right and what's not. Really the only way to find yourself in this place of deception would be to not really be serious about what you hear and who you hear it from. Often it's the everyday things we're exposed to that undermine our ability to know light from darkness and consequently how to run our race. Paul told Timothy he was going to have to rightly divide the truth in order to live it and present it correctly to those he pastored. Now because I've had over 40 years of what I would say has been pretty focused study in the Word as well as hearing and reading the works of seasoned men and women of God, He's put some things together for me so I could win my race and help you win yours. You and I must know our Father and His rules in order to run, win, and bring glory to Him.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

To run, to win I will be serious about what I hear and who from.

Proverbs 7

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Because Paul told Timothy that the Word had to be “rightly divided” there is obviously a possibility of it being “wrongly divided.” So much suffering happens in the body of Christ today or the church, because people don’t have an accurate picture of the Father as well as the authority they have been given as His children. From my years as a pastor I would say that most people simply languish in a state of indifference until all hell breaks loose in their lives. This is plenty unfortunate, but no one can keep it from happening but the individual. Laziness is always followed by disobedience and then destruction soon follows. We’re on to something here, but it’s not very pretty. I believe laziness is the number one culprit when it comes to those in the body who never seem to connect in a successful way with the life of God Jesus came to provide them. Can you imagine the level of deception it takes to refuse to see what the Master has provided as important as it is? Hey, that’s just the way it is and always has been. Aren’t you glad you’ve decided to be a disciplined disciple?

QUOTE OF THE DAY

Those who succeed in life cannot be slothful or lazy.

Proverbs 8

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

When I mentioned yesterday about much of the body of Christ suffering that was totally accurate. People suffer or deal with things already handled by Jesus for several reasons. I believe ignorance is number one, laziness is number two and in a tie for number three I would say are a lack of true knowledge and rejection when it's heard. In the book of Acts we read about our former ignorance, but as soon as we make Jesus our Lord we should without hesitation begin to focus on our rights, privileges, and responsibilities as the children of God by pursuing the wisdom found only in His Word. This requires legitimate repentance or change of one's focus and priorities. The child of God who doesn't begin to renew his or her mind puts themselves in a position of "suffering" unnecessarily in this life. Honestly, this is pretty much connected to just being lazy or disinterested. At chooselife we are going to talk along these lines enough that it will be very uncomfortable for people to maintain their life-destroying worldly comfort level. It's one thing to be ignorant, having not heard, as opposed to refusing to take the next step in order to know and operate in your God-given rights! But they both produce the same result: destruction.

Ignorance is for those with no light not those who RECEIVED HIM.

Proverbs 9

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Perishing or being destroyed for a lack of knowledge is not the only way a believer's life has to go down! Those who hunger and thirst will be filled. Those who dig deep will be stable. Those who will humble themselves will be enlightened and elevated to a place of freedom and peace. Often, only the first part of our verse today is quoted, which is plenty misleading to those who never are exposed to the middle and end of the verse. It's not that there is necessarily anything wrong with just looking at a part of a verse, but without having the full meaning of the verse you will miss apply its meaning and as a result your life will not turn out right. The verse very clearly tells us the people rejected knowledge and would be destroyed along with their children. Not a pretty picture, but true nonetheless. Here we see a perfect example of the truth not being rightly divided and the consequences that can occur. The same thing happens today when believers choose to reject the truth of God's Word; they set themselves up for suffering and possible destruction.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I would like to expound on yesterday's verse today, because I don't want us to allow ourselves to "spit out the hook". If you've never fished you may not understand that term, but it applies to Christians also who hear but refuse to do the Word. What they are doing is spitting out the opportunity to walk in freedom and victory. We all have many excuses and reasons why we refuse to do the Word, but the results are always the same, suffering and destruction for ourselves and often others. Honestly, we don't understand much about the love of God if we're willing to allow our lazy, rebellious selves to not only disrespect the Word but set people up around us for what is sure to be collateral damage. This verse is a perfect example of having to understand the big picture and not just what suits our position personally. Very simply, this makes it clear that what parents or leaders don't do lays the groundwork for their children and all who follow. We need to know the truth and do the truth!

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

We looked a few days ago where Jesus made it clear that a person could mistake darkness for light. One of the greatest protections against this is following those who are actually doing well in life. No, they are not the final authority, the Word is, but yet you should be following those who are practicing and experiencing success with the Word. We are very fortunate in our nation to have men and women of God who are truly men and women of God. To have people in our lives who have gone before us and experienced the fruit of a life lived in the light should encourage us to be the same for others. Just as Jesus told His disciples to follow Him and Paul asked those to follow him as he followed Jesus, that should be our goal! We should follow who we are directed to and lead those who desire to follow us. Remember, a leader can lead but who follows them is not up to them, that's called manipulation or coercion. We see a perfect example of this playing out correctly in the way Jesus called His twelve. Each of them had to choose to follow. However, on another occasion when He told approximately five or six hundred to wait in Jerusalem for power from on high, only about one-hundred and twenty obeyed. You follow who you choose to.

Who you follow will either be right or wrong; don't make a mistake.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Jesus made it clear throughout His ministry that He was on a mission to save not judge. This is huge because so many today talk as if most negative occurrences are orchestrated or at least authorized by the Father Himself. Anyone with any understanding of God's character as Jesus reflected it in the earth should realize this is totally bogus. To be off this far in one's theology reveals that religion has steeped itself in the realm of reason and intellectualism. Honestly, the older I get the more I see how deceptive deception is. How a simple verse can be overlooked or rationalized is almost beyond my comprehension. It does however make me determined to pray, meditate, and know that I know that I know, before I embrace what I embrace. If the Word declares that things can be right or wrong, then I want to be sure what I believe and promote can be backed up with at least two witnesses in the Word, with one preferably being the Lord Jesus Himself. If He said it or did it, I'm convinced of its legitimacy. Jesus doesn't judge, but the Word will!

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Yesterday's verse is absolutely packed with revelation concerning the character and agenda of the Father not to mention the mission and heart of Jesus during His time on earth. Here He is making it crystal clear that His whole mission was all about the Word and its power to accomplish its purpose. Then to think He wasn't here to judge or condemn anyone, but judgment would be reserved for a time in the future. Wow, you need to get this because this makes it clear that the Father is doing nothing in this day to get or harm someone for what they've done or haven't done. This is huge because it's just another example of how religion is unaware of the order of God and how this season or dispensation we are in is all about His love and unwillingness that any be lost. Now don't get me wrong, there are nations and systems that have put themselves in opposition to the Word of God and they have been and many continue to sow themselves into a horrible harvest they can't be protected from; but that isn't at the hand of the Father but rather by their own. The law of seedtime and harvest and sowing and reaping works to the advantage of those in the kingdom as well as those without. It doesn't matter who you are, you will eventually reap what you sow. Jesus was making this clear to those who had ears to hear.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I believe the most important phrase found in today's verse is "the same shall judge him in the last day". This is talking about the Word and how it alone is final authority in this life as well as the life to come. The entire verse puts the emphasis on the Word and its place of prominence in the plan of the Father. This should be a no-brainer, but unfortunately most Christians don't realize its value and importance. Jesus made it clear that the Word would do the judging, establishing its premier value, but even so, we each as individuals must make the decision to see it that way ourselves. In doing this we will find ourselves equipped to grow as well as overcome things that would have at one time taken us out. In light of the last part of our verse it's clear that the Word and the Word alone is the final authority in all that transpires in this life and sets the stage as to how things will be in our eternity. It reminds me of what Pastor Charles Nieman said over and over again, "Get in the Word, Get in the Word, Get in the Word, Get in the Word". Jesus is the Word, and He knows what He's saying.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let's take a couple of days to see the vital part the Lord Jesus plays in the Word and the revealing the Word. First of all we see that the Word was from the beginning, whenever that was. Really, and how do you suppose the created is going to be able to comprehend the Creator? The Spirit of God just spoke to me about those who needed to know all the details of when and how before they could believe and embrace the Word. They might say, "I'm not going into this blind" or "I need some evidence of when the beginning was and how I can prove it". Hey, those are questions many have asked over the years but accepting the Word is based on faith that comes from the Word. I know this isn't too deep for you, but it is for many. The Word is the substance and is the evidence of what it says, and consequently only needs our agreement in order for it to become alive to us. It is alive but only to those who receive it by faith and don't reason, question, or endeavor to figure it out. So again, whenever the beginning was, the Word was present and was the instrument used to make all you now see and experience in this world.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The rest of yesterday's verse sheds some light on the omnipotence of the Father and His multifaceted makeup. Honestly, to grasp the magnitude of the Father through our intellect is absolutely ludicrous. Only by faith can we read, hear, and embrace the Word for who and what it is. The end of the verse is filled with revelation that the casual observer will never grasp in importance. Only the Holy Spirit, who by the way was there at the beginning also, is the one who can make what we read or hear REAL. The thing about the Word not only being with God but being God is it must become alive, or "quicken" in order to be a part of one's being. For those of us who have revelation of this connection between the Father, the Son, the Holy Spirit, and the Word, we see how the three are present and are ready to reveal and bring to pass the word they are and represent. The Word that was, was also with God and not only with Him but was Him. Wow, how revealing this is to the Holy Spirit baptized believer who wants to do a better job of rightly dividing the Word. When you get this verse things will begin to fall in place because they take the confusion out of the equation.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

In the next few verses we get some insight into Jesus' role in the creation process and His Oneness with the Father. We begin to see in verse two where it was Jesus who was with the Father during that process. Actually it's here that we get a real picture of creation as well as the relationship and oneness between the Father and Son. We read on and see that all that was made was a joint effort and Jesus was in on all of it. Calling to remembrance that these things have been planned before the foundation of the world indicates, once again, the very omnipotence of the Trinity, or Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Verse four makes a statement concerning Jesus being life with no alternative and His life becoming the light man needed to be removed from their dead and dark condition. What a picture of something that can be spiritually understood and embraced by the simple submission in one's heart to the plan of God. The fact is, believing or embracing the faith of the Lord Jesus is an act of your will just like everything else you choose to do. What the Word says happened, did, so just choose to believe and His light will become yours.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I want to look at one more verse in this chapter that confirms who Jesus is and how He and the Father are as one. We see Jesus' transformation by Him putting on humanity. We see clearly that He, The Word, was made flesh and lived among men in order to do for them what they couldn't do. You see, He came from the Spirit in order to restore what had been lost spiritually when Adam and Eve committed high treason and gave their authority to satan. This act of disobedience could only be rectified by the Son of God, the Co-Creator of the universe. Because Jesus existed from the beginning and was one with the Father it would only be through His willingness to die spiritually that man could be restored to relationship with the Father. This was an act of love and submission on the part of the Lord Jesus, not a random story that took no sacrifice on His part. His life on earth, especially His ministry time, was designed to reflect the perfect will of the Father for mankind, beginning with the people of Israel as well as all others. He revealed grace and truth in such a way that all who would believe could be freed from darkness and eternal damnation.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

In discussing Jesus being all the Father is we get a much bigger picture of both of them. When we look into or hear the Word of God we are seeing both of them in seed form, Father and Son. The Word was made flesh which should give you a picture of the written Word in that same way. Jesus is showing us that the written Word, like seed, will put on its definition for all who will simply see it in that way. The Lord Jesus, who by and through His sacrifice, set seedtime and harvest in motion for all who would call on His Name. We know seedtime has been in motion since the beginning but only after Jesus made the way could we know and take authority over our harvests in this life. When we begin to see that everything is a seed we understand that what it produces has been established since creation itself. The Father made it clear that all seed has its essence or definition within itself and that principle will never change. By knowing and being aware of how this works we can take advantage of the freedom the Lord Jesus has afforded us as well as the grace and ability to put it to work.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The statement from yesterday's thought was a little more profound than I thought when I wrote it down. In the statement "Jesus, the seed in whom all life resides" we see a truth that has existed from the beginning of time. This was the state of Adam and Eve before they rejected the direction of the Father. We've seen that all things were created by Him and the Father, consequently it was their life in mankind. Since life centers in the spirit when they turned their authority over to satan, he became their god. Because of the new birth that can never happen to a Christian; however, one can relinquish his authority by not obeying the Word of God. We saw yesterday that being born-again of incorruptible seed means we are assured of eternal life on the grounds of Jesus' perfect sacrifice, not our future performance. I believe this is an important key to understanding the love of God; He wanted us so deeply He had to be separated from His Son in order for us to always be His. The moment we receive the Lord Jesus we are IN HIM and are dependant on Him for the life we were born to have.

Once we embrace the reality that our life is in Him, we have to mature into all that position affords us. If we would go back to the garden we would remember what the Father told Adam would happen if he ate of the forbidden tree. He would die because he was losing the life of the one who created him. Man was not created to sustain or maintain his life without the presence and plan of God. Huge statement, you better take a couple of minutes and meditate and make note of what you just read! If it's IN HIM we live then it's only IN HIM that LIFE IS. Gonna get us thinking today, huh? In light of what we have already seen, let's look at some things Jesus talked about concerning our relationship with Him. I don't want to just blow by these things because I believe an accurate revelation of them will change your life. If what becomes your "light" isn't, then it isn't, is it? Proverbs 22

In order for us to comprehend the simplicity of Jesus being our life it is necessary that we make a decision to believe what the Word says and not allow our mind or intellect the room to perpetrate it's doubt. It's unbelief that must be dealt with because it's unbelief that will thwart our childlike faith. Faith is never the issue as much as the unbelief that keeps you from speaking and doing what the Word says! Jesus in essence said, "I am your life." We must believe on His terms not our ability to reason or rationalize based on our natural intellect or life experience. We can't drag our science class info into the equation because if the Master said it, it's forever settled! Jesus made it so simple by saying we could produce nothing of any value without Him anymore than a branch laying on the ground detached from the tree or vine will produce anything. I mean, Jesus didn't mince words; in Him much fruit was possible, without Him NOTHING! When reading, studying, and hearing the Word of God it's imperative we take what Jesus said as the perfect will of God in every way!

QUOTE OF THE DAY

If Jesus said it, you better just run with it!

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Let's see another reference today pertaining to being dead without the Master and His plan! Paul told the Colossians what their condition looked like before they accepted Jesus. They were graveyard dead. The definition for "dead" in today's verse is lifeless, deceased, departed, spiritually dead. Now there is no reason to think that a definition like this could be blown off intellectually or any other way. Dead is dead and the Word is abundantly clear. The definition covered the spiritual aspect of death which is like really dead. We see later in the verse that through the blood of Jesus we have not only been forgiven but made alive IN HIM. Obviously, you and I must make a willful or heartfelt decision to accept that we were dead and now embrace the only life there is, life IN HIM! This is a decision that is birthed from hearing the Word and allowing it to be the final authority for our decisions. Things have never and will never change, LIFE IS A CHOICE. The phrase "hath He quickened together" relates to a relationship of ONENESS that is the only way our new life produces effectively.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

Jesus took the graveyard dead out and put His eternal life in.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Once we become a child of God, by grace through faith, we must see ourselves as truly alive IN HIM. This decision requires a willingness to learn what our new life IN HIM should look like. In your new life you must determine to see the old you as dead. There is no good thing in sinful, rebellious flesh that can be reworked or overhauled. In order for our new life IN HIM to produce we must truly see ourselves as new and not needing anything we were, the good included, in order to produce all He has planned for our lives. The key being, "He has planned". Once you're new, you have to desire to know His plan. Taking your place IN HIM requires that you be dependent on Him. This is where the fight of faith comes to play. You have to determine to walk by faith, not by sight, and not by what you can make happen in and of yourself. We must constantly remind ourselves that only IN HIM lies the ingredients to overcome and enjoy what He has for us. Our verse today clearly tells us that a life of death and sin will not overtake us if we will see ourselves as dead to sin because of Him!

QUOTE OF THE DAY

Jesus took sin and death, and we must take freedom and life.

Proverbs 25

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

When Jesus paid for our old or dead man, He was not simply making us right just to be right but so we could have access to His life in us for the here and now. This is the place where most Christians actually stop the process. Most simply receive Jesus as their Savior but don't learn and allow themselves to be a reflection of Him in the earth, as He was of the Father. This is what the Word calls "working out" your personal salvation. No, we're not earning or working for something that's already been paid for, but rather recognizing what's been done spiritually on the inside and then wanting it to transform our natural man. And you know what, it takes work! It takes a willingness to control the old desires in your flesh and habits that still lurk between your ears in order to experience what Jesus did and simultaneously give glory to the Father for their great love and sacrifice. Don't ever become satisfied with your progress; there is always more to be received and reflected for those who will not get weary or complacent. Jesus paid for you to have all you need, but it's up to you to let what's in you, out.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

Jesus provided everything, but you must let what's in out.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The kingdom doesn't change. What was required for those new believers in the book of Acts and throughout the letters to the churches that Paul wrote in the new testament, is still required for us today. Jesus paid for man's ransom and it is up to every individual who has heard about His great love to seek their level of fellowship with the Father and His Word. Some, as you all know, don't go any further than receiving Jesus and others move further; still others follow the one who made their new lives possible with excitement. God is no respecter of persons, but those who don't pursue Him are cheapening their own value. How you value you will actually determine how much you value what's been done for you! A revelation of your value only comes from a sincere interest in understanding the unconditional love of God. No, His unconditional love doesn't overlook disobedience or rebellion to the point it does the same for everyone, but rather still loves the person because of their personal VALUE. Remember, we have access to the Father's love for one reason only and that is the result of all that Jesus did.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

We can be loved because Jesus honored the Father!

Proverbs 27

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

In learning about how the Father is able to relate to us and the opportunities that have been afforded us solely because of Jesus, let's dig a little deeper. I believe if we're not wise we will get the idea that even though we are as He is and joint heirs with Him, we have the same position and status as He. We are indeed the beneficiaries of the greatest gift ever given to mankind, but if we don't honor it correctly we become deceived into thinking we're more special than we are. Yes, the Father wanted us to be restored to a place of relationship with Him, but that was not to be at the expense of our responsibilities in the family. Hey, it's kind of like the kids in a family in relationship with their parents. The parents will always be the parents and they will always hold that position, as well as the respect it's due, huh? If that respect is not "paid" the fellowship is breached. The relationship remains, parents are parents, and the kids are the kids; loved just the same, but not able to benefit from the relationship. The same is true in our relationship with our Father God. We must realize our potential success in this life was totally dependant on what Jesus did for us, which must be followed up by our part of living our purpose according to His plan. As Jesus told those who followed Him, this is about our part, not His.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

Following Jesus means He's the LEADER.

Proverbs 28

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

It is so easy my family, to act as if we are special for any reason other than what we were PROVIDED. One of the subtle deceptions we all must face is not living with and appreciating the fact HE PROVIDED ALL THE TOOLS so we could finish our race and fulfill our purpose. I can see Paul making it clear in our verse for the day we have no reason to brag or become haughty because of our position or assignment. Jesus made it clear in JOHN 15:5 that we can do NOTHING without His tools and His presence in us. Truly this is something between us and the Father, not simply how we might act around others. Our relationship with the Father must be one of total dependance in order to be right in our public life. This is a pure and simple case of willfully remaining humble as it pertains to our life in the Father's kingdom. I want us to realize that all we have was a gift that was unattainable without the GIVER. I believe the constant recognition of having been blessed will keep us effective in the Father's plan.

QUOTE OF THE DAY

Without the plan and the Man we wouldn't be!

Proverbs 29

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Remember when Jesus said "learn of me, I am meek and lowly in heart"? I believe this very powerful and short verse holds a couple of non-negotiable principles for every Christian who is serious about their relationship with the Father and His kingdom. In yesterday's verse we saw the word vainglory which indicates being prideful or self-absorbed! Certainly this wasn't an issue with Jesus and it shouldn't be an issue with us either. Wow, these last few days I've seen some things bigger than I've ever seen them. Just like Jesus using the word meek we see in the phrase "in lowliness of mind" the posture we should aspire to and FIGHT FOR. This is all about sincere humility, modesty, and personal gratitude for having been afforded the life of God! If Jesus presented Himself as meek and lowly in heart what makes us think we have the right to see ourselves as anything other than blessed and accepted? Staying meek and humble will set us up with a supernatural strength to avoid seeing ourselves or anyone else any differently than the Father does!

QUOTE OF THE DAY

In humility acknowledge that He loves you like He loves Jesus.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

I believe we should frequently remind ourselves that Jesus not only didn't seek to establish a reputation, but did His best to make Himself of no reputation. Now listen, this is not just a principle for those in the full-time ministry but everyone of us. The fact is the Father is going to see that you have all the influence you deserve based on your humility, integrity, and obedience. There has never been anyone on this earth that had the right to promote themselves more than Jesus. He knew the principles of being a servant. He understood the one who was the best servant would become chief or Lord of all! Jesus made His way by the same laws that He and the Father instituted from the beginning, seedtime and harvest, sowing and reaping. This requires an unwavering trust in the Father without having any preconceived ideas about one's future and then being ecstatic about whatever level of results transpire. It was the Apostle Paul who said I have determined that whatever state I'm in I will be content. He knew that his job was to do his job and the Father would bring the honor and increase from there.

THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Wow, this has been a great month for me and I pray for you. These principles we learned from Jesus are guaranteed to produce 100% of the time when we implement them with the correct attitude, in faith. Please don't forget that all you do must be in done in faith in order for the Father to be pleased and the correct results to transpire. Every time we see the Father talking about His plan we see the opportunity for the doers of the Word to be blessed. Again, as we said yesterday this is all about seedtime and harvest whether it's sowing resources, forgiveness, kind deeds, attitudes, or words. As a matter of fact, it's words that precede every endeavor. Death and life are the power of your tongue, or words, so don't think your harvest will ever be up to par if you can't keep your mouth in line with the Word. Jesus said you would either be justified or condemned by your words, not by your actions or good intentions. Don't ever forget that the Father promised to honor those who honored Him. This means those who see, speak, and work the Word He sent will be healed and delivered from destruction.
